Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Trustees of
William Marsh Rice University

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of William Marsh Rice University (the "University"), which comprise the consolidated statement of financial position as of June 30, 2014 and the related consolidated statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on our judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, we consider internal control relevant to the University's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the University's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of William Marsh Rice University at June 30, 2014, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Other Matter

We have previously audited William Marsh Rice University's 2013 consolidated financial statements, and we expressed an unmodified audit opinion on those audited financial statements in our report dated October 25, 2013. In our opinion, the summarized comparative information presented herein as of and for the year ended June 30, 2013 is consistent, in all material respects, with the audited financial statements from which it has been derived.

1. Basis of Presentation and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

William Marsh Rice University (the "University") is a Texas not-for-profit corporation that operates a private research university in Houston, Texas. The consolidated financial statements of the University as of June 30, 2014, and for the year then ended, have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, the accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting and include the accounts of the University and all wholly owned subsidiaries. All material transactions between the University and its subsidiaries have been eliminated.

The financial statements include certain prior year summarized comparative information in total but not by net asset class. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with the University's financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2013, from which the summarized information was derived.

The University's subsidiaries consolidated in these financial statements consist of Center for Collaborative Research Inc., JTVF Corporation, R.U. Corporation, Rice-Land Lumber Company, Rice Trust Inc., Village Project, Inc., Village Real Property, Inc., Village Venturers, Inc., and Houston Area Translational Research Consortium, Inc. all of which are exempt from federal income tax, and Peabody, Inc., R.I. Patents, and Accelerate Learning Inc. (previously known as STEMscopes Inc.) which are subject to taxation.

The activity for the Center for Collaborative Research Inc. and Houston Area Translational Research Consortium, Inc. are fully consolidated with the University statement of activities within the appropriate categories in operations; the remainder of the subsidiaries are consolidated in the nonoperating portion of the statement of activities as they are considered investments of the endowment.

Net Asset Categories

Standards for external financial reporting by not-for-profit organizations require that resources be classified for reporting purposes into three net asset categories according to donor-imposed restrictions. A description of the University's three net asset categories follows:

- a. Unrestricted net assets and related activity include the following:
 1. All revenues traditionally classified as unrestricted resources of the University, including tuition and fees, unrestricted gifts, investment returns on unrestricted funds designated to function as endowment, recovery of facility and administrative costs from grants and contracts and auxiliary enterprise revenues.
 2. Revenues related to sponsored research and other sponsored program agreements, which are considered exchange transactions.
 3. Unrestricted funds functioning as endowment.

(all dollar amounts in thousands)

4. Gifts with donor imposed restrictions, if the restriction will be met within the current fiscal year of the University.
 5. Investments in plant assets.
 6. All expenses of the University.
- b. Temporarily restricted net assets include gifts for which donor-imposed restrictions have not been met and investment returns from unrestricted and restricted endowments. The restriction on unrestricted endowment returns (income and realized and unrealized gains and losses) is released when appropriations are distributed for use in the current fiscal year. The category also includes pledges receivable and life-income gifts for which the ultimate purpose of the proceeds is not permanently restricted.
- c. Permanently restricted net assets include gifts, trusts and pledges on which donors have imposed the restriction that the corpus be maintained in perpetuity and only the investment returns be made available for program operations. In the case of trusts, gains and losses are added to the gift amount. Gifts restricted by donors to provide loans to students are also included in permanently restricted net assets.

The terms of certain gifts of real property made by the founder of the University provided that all returns realized from these properties are to be invested to generate income to be used for University purposes. Changes in the market value of these specific properties, whether gains or losses, are recorded as permanently restricted as required by the donor.

Expirations of temporary restrictions on net assets are reported as released from restrictions on the Statement of Activities. Donor required matching from University funds and donor release or clarification of restrictions is also included in this line.

The Board of Trustees interprets the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA), as adopted in Texas, to require the preservation of the original gift as of the gift date of the donor restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulation to the contrary. As a result of this interpretation, the University classifies as permanently restricted net assets, (a) the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment, (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to the permanent endowment, and (c) other additions to the permanent endowment made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument at the time the addition is added to the fund. The remaining portion of the donor restricted endowment fund that is not classified as permanently restricted net assets is classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by the University in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by UPMIFA (Note 5).

Contributions

Contributions, including unconditional promises to give and irrevocable trusts held by others under which the University is the beneficiary, are recognized as revenues in the period received or promised. Contributions restricted for the acquisition of land, buildings and equipment are reported as temporarily restricted revenues. These contributions are reclassified to unrestricted net assets when the assets are placed in service. Promises to give that are subject to donor-imposed stipulations that the corpus be maintained in perpetuity are recognized as increases in permanently restricted net assets. It is the University's practice to sell marketable securities received as donations upon receipt.

William Marsh Rice University

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

June 30, 2014 and 2013

(all dollar amounts in thousands)

In the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, the University classifies cash receipts from the sale of donated marketable securities in a manner that is consistent with cash donations received if the donated marketable securities are converted into cash on receipt or shortly thereafter.

Conditional promises to give are not recognized until the conditions on which they depend are met. Contributions of assets other than cash are reported at their estimated fair value at the date of gift. Contributions scheduled to be received after one year are discounted using a market rate (Note 3). Amortization of the discount is recorded as contribution revenue.

Operating and Nonoperating Activities

The Consolidated Statement of Activities reports the change in net assets from the University's operating and nonoperating activities. Operating activities exclude (a) gifts, grants and pledges for property and endowment (including annuity and life-income trusts), (b) release from restrictions of contributions restricted for the acquisition of property and equipment, (c) donor release of restrictions from permanently restricted net assets, (d) endowment returns net of the University's operating needs as defined by University spending policy (Note 5), (e) actuarial adjustments of annuities payable, (f) changes in fair value of swap agreements (Note 6), (g) net gain or loss on nonrecurring transactions, and (h) subsidiary corporations that are investments of the endowment.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The University considers all highly liquid financial instruments with an original maturity of 90 days or less to be cash equivalents, except those amounts assigned to its investment managers and unspent commercial paper proceeds, which are classified as investments.

Investments and Other Financial Instruments

Investments are made within guidelines authorized by the University's Board of Trustees. Investments are initially recorded at cost at date of acquisition or fair value at date of donation in the case of gifts. Ownership of marketable securities is recognized as of the trade date. Marketable securities transactions that have not settled are recognized as accounts receivable or accounts payable until the settlement date. Endowment income is calculated net of internal and external investment management expenses.

Investments are stated at fair value. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date.

The hierarchy of valuation inputs is based on the extent to which inputs are observable in the marketplace. Observable inputs reflect market data obtained from sources independent of the University and unobservable inputs reflect assumptions about how market participants would value an asset or liability based on the best information available. Valuation techniques used to measure fair value maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. The fair value hierarchy is based on three levels of inputs of which the first two are considered observable and the last unobservable, that may be used to measure fair value.

William Marsh Rice University
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
June 30, 2014 and 2013

(all dollar amounts in thousands)

The following describes the hierarchy of inputs used to measure fair value and the primary valuation methodologies used by the University for financial instruments measured at fair value on a recurring basis (Note 6). The three levels of inputs are as follows:

- Level 1 Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities, such as exchange-traded equity securities.

- Level 2 Inputs other than Level 1 that are observable, either directly or indirectly, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities, quoted prices in markets that are not active, or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the same term of the assets or liabilities, including corporate bonds and most Treasury securities.

- Level 3 Unobservable inputs, such as valuation supplied by the investment managers, that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities, including investments in certain hedge strategies and all private market strategies.

A financial instrument's categorization within the valuation hierarchy is based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The estimated fair value of certain alternative investments, such as private equity and other limited partnership interests, is based on valuations provided by the general partners or partnership valuation committees. Such valuations consider variables such as financial performance of investments, recent sale prices of similar investments and other pertinent information. The University reviews and evaluates the data used in determining fair value, including the valuation methods, assumptions, and values provided by the investment managers. Because alternative investments are not readily marketable, their estimated fair value is subject to uncertainty and therefore may differ from the value that would have been used had a ready market for such investments existed. These differences could be material.

The fair value of real estate, timber, oil and gas and other investments is estimated by professional appraisers or University management.

Derivative financial instruments are recorded on the Consolidated Statement of Financial Position as either an asset or liability measured at fair value as of the reporting date. Derivative financial instruments consist of interest rate swaps and energy hedge agreements. Changes in fair value of these derivatives are recognized in the Consolidated Statement of Activities.

The University's investments are exposed to a number of risks including interest rate, market, and credit risks. Due to the level of risk exposure, it is possible that changes in the valuation of these investments may occur in the near term and that such changes could be material.

William Marsh Rice University

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

June 30, 2014 and 2013

(all dollar amounts in thousands)

Property and Equipment

Property used by the University is stated at cost for purchased assets and fair value at the date of donation in the case of gifts. Interest expense incurred during the period of construction of an asset for University use is capitalized until that asset is substantially completed and ready for use. The University depreciates its physical assets (excluding works of art, which are not depreciated) using the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives. Repairs and maintenance of property and equipment are expensed as incurred. Property and equipment are removed from the records at the time of disposal.

Works of art, historical treasures, literary works and artifacts are preserved and protected for educational, research and public exhibition purposes. Donations and purchases of such collections are recorded for financial statement purposes as property and equipment.

Asset Retirement Obligations

The University recognizes asset retirement obligations (AROs) that are conditional on a future event, such as the legal obligation to safely dispose of asbestos when a building is remodeled or demolished. The University measures conditional AROs at estimated fair value using a probability-weighted, discounted cash flow model with multiple scenarios, if applicable. The present value of weighted, discounted cash flows is calculated annually using credit-adjusted, risk-free rates applicable to the University in order to determine the estimated fair value of the conditional AROs.

Life-Income Agreements

Life-income agreements include charitable remainder trusts and gift annuities. Charitable remainder trusts hold donated assets for which the University's subsidiary acts as trustee and periodically pays specified amounts to the designated beneficiaries. Generally, beneficiary payments are a fixed amount for annuity trusts and a fixed percentage of the fair value of the trust assets or based on income earned for other charitable remainder trusts. At a date specified in each gift instrument, usually the beneficiary's date of death, ownership of the trust assets will transfer to the University and the beneficiary payments will cease. The University also enters into gift annuity agreements, which require that the University take ownership of the assets at the date of gift with an obligation to periodically pay specified amounts to designated beneficiaries for their lifetimes. Assets held in life income trusts and those assets associated with gift annuities are included in investments. Contribution revenues are recognized at the date the trusts or gift annuities are established at the net present value calculated based on an actuarial table. Liabilities are recorded at the same time using actuarial tables established by the IRS and discounted according to the risk-free rate at the time of the gift. Discount rates range from 1% to 6%. The liability represents the present value of the estimated future payments to be made to the beneficiaries. The liabilities are adjusted annually for changes in the value of the assets and actuarial changes, which impact the estimates of future payments.

Grants and Contracts

Revenues from both government and private sources are recognized as earned in accordance with the terms of the grant or contract. Any payment received prior to it being expended is recorded as a refundable advance. Projects that incur expenses prior to payment receipt are recorded as revenue with a corresponding receivable. The recovery of indirect costs, also referred to as facilities and administrative costs, is recognized primarily based on predetermined rates negotiated with the federal government (Note 12). The amount of indirect cost permitted to be recovered is determined on a per grant or contract basis.

Use of Estimates

Financial statements prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America rely on estimates. Management makes certain estimates and assumptions which affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities, and reported revenues and expenses during the period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Credit Risk

The University evaluated the credit risk associated with financing receivables, primarily student loans, and determined that both the receivables and the related allowances are immaterial to the financial statements.

Tax Status

The University is exempt from federal income tax to the extent provided under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. The IRS issued a determination letter in January, 1938 that recognized the University as exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c)(3). The IRS confirmed in 2008 that this exemption still applies.

The University has 12 wholly owned subsidiary corporations that are included in the consolidated financial statements. Six of these subsidiary corporations are exempt from federal income taxes under 501(c)(2), two are exempt under 501(c)(3), one is exempt under 501(c)(4), and three are subject to taxation. The University is classified as an organization that is not a private foundation under section 509(a) of the Internal Revenue Code because it is described in sections 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(ii) and, as such, gifts to the University qualify for deduction as charitable contributions to the extent provided by law. The University and its subsidiary corporations that are exempt from federal income tax are required to pay federal income tax on unrelated business income. The University and its subsidiary corporations did not have any material income tax liabilities for the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013. The University has no financial reporting requirements for uncertain tax positions for the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013.

Reclassifications

Certain amounts in the 2013 consolidated financial statements have been reclassified to conform to the 2014 presentation. These classifications had no significant impact on the University's financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

Certain expenses paid directly by the University for investment management and custody services, including certain internal costs, amounted to approximately $53,665 and $49,406 for the years ended June 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Certain investments report net returns without specific identification of management fees.

5. Endowments

The University's endowment pool consists of approximately 1,500 individual donor restricted endowment funds and approximately 200 funds designated by the Board of Trustees to function as endowment funds. The net assets associated with endowment funds, including funds designated by the Board of Trustees to function as endowments, are classified and reported based on the existence or absence of donor imposed restrictions.

The following table presents endowment net asset composition by type of fund for the year ended June 30, 2014, with summarized information for the year ended June 30, 2013:

In accordance with UPMIFA, the University considers the following factors in making a determination to appropriate or accumulate endowment funds:

1. The duration and preservation of the fund
2. The purposes of the University and the donor restricted endowment fund
3. General economic conditions
4. The possible effect of inflation and deflation
5. The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments
6. Other resources of the University
7. The investment policies of the University

Endowment Investment Policies

The University has adopted endowment investment policies that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs supported by its endowment while seeking to maintain, and, if possible, enhance the purchasing power of endowment assets. The University has a diversified approach to management of the endowment investment portfolio. By diversifying among asset classes and rebalancing toward policy target allocations, the University strives to manage and maintain the risk profile implied by the policy targets adopted by the board.

To achieve its long term return objectives, the University relies on a total return strategy in which investment returns are achieved through both capital appreciation (realized and unrealized gains) and current yield (interest and dividends). The University's diversified asset allocation places greater emphasis on equity based investments to achieve its long-term objectives within prudent risk and liquidity constraints. The long term investment objectives of the endowment are to attain an average annual real total return in excess of endowment spending and to outperform various strategic policy and comparable industry universe benchmarks over the long term.

Endowment Spending Allocation and Relationship of Spending Policy to Investment Objectives

The Board of Trustees of the University approves the appropriation of endowment funds for expenditure. In establishing a distribution policy, the Board of Trustees considered a number of factors, including the expected long term investment rate of return on the endowment. Accordingly, over the long term, the University expects the current spending policy to allow its endowment assets to grow, consistent with its intention to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets while providing a relatively predictable and stable (in real terms) stream of earnings for current use. Under the University's endowment earnings distribution policy, endowment returns on donor restricted endowments, net of operating distributions, remain in the investment pool as temporarily restricted net assets and endowment returns on board designated endowment funds, net of operating distributions, remain in the investment pool as unrestricted net assets functioning as endowment.

Endowment Funds With Deficits

From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual donor restricted endowment funds may fall below the value of the initial and subsequent donor gift amounts creating a deficit. These deficits generally result when unfavorable market fluctuations occur shortly after the investment of newly established endowments. Deficits in donor restricted endowment funds are classified as a reduction of unrestricted net assets in the year they occur and as an increase in unrestricted net assets in the year the fair value exceeds the gift amounts. There were no deficits as of June 30, 2014 and 2013.

Changes in endowment net assets for the year ended June 30, 2014, with summarized information for the year ended June 30, 2013, were as follows:

The following table presents a summary of Level 3 valuation techniques and quantitative information utilized in determining the value of real assets, oil and gas, and other investments, where no practical expedient to using external manager's reported NAV exists.

The University recognizes transfers between levels as of the end of the reporting period. There were no transfers between Level 1 and Level 2 in 2014 and 2013. There were no transfers between Level 2 and Level 3 in 2014 or 2013.

The University utilizes a hierarchy of inputs in determining fair value (Note 1). The following is a description of the University's valuation methodologies for assets and liabilities measured at fair value. The methods described below may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, while the University believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different estimate of fair value at the reporting date.

Fair value for Level 1 is based upon quoted prices in active markets that the University has the ability to access for identical assets and liabilities. Market price data is generally obtained from exchange or dealer markets. The University does not adjust the quoted price for such assets and liabilities.

William Marsh Rice University
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
June 30, 2014 and 2013

(all dollar amounts in thousands)

Fair value for Level 2 is based on quoted prices for similar instruments in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are not active, and model-based valuation techniques for which all significant assumptions are observable in the market or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets. Certain alternative investments, such as hedge funds, that offer redemptions within 180 days of the measurement date at investee-reported net asset value per share or its equivalent are reported as Level 2. Hedge funds that have significant portions of the net asset value in side pockets or special purpose vehicles and/or are only redeemable at fund manager discretion are reported as Level 3. If the redemption extends beyond 180 days, the investment is categorized as Level 3. Inputs are obtained from various sources including market participants, dealers, and brokers.

Fair value for Level 3 is based on valuation techniques that use significant inputs that are unobservable as they trade infrequently or not at all. Investments included in Level 3 primarily consist of the University's ownership in alternative investments (including limited partnerships and interests in certain hedge and other similar funds). The fair values held by funds that do not have readily determinable fair values are determined by the respective managers and are based on appraisals or other estimates that require varying degrees of judgment. If no public market exists for the investments, the fair value is determined by the manager taking into consideration, among other things, the cost of the investments, prices of recent significant placements of investments of the same issuer, and subsequent developments concerning the companies to which the investments relate. The University has performed due diligence with respect to these investments to ensure net asset value (NAV) or partners' capital per share is an appropriate measure of fair value as of June 30.

Hedge funds held by the University may be subject to restrictions that limit (i) the University's ability to redeem/withdraw capital from such funds during a specified period of time subsequent to the University's investment of capital (lockups) and/or (ii) the amount of capital that investors may redeem/withdraw as of given redemption/withdrawal dates (side pockets). Capital available for redemption/withdrawal may also be subject to redemption/withdrawal charges and may or may not include capital attributable to the University's participation in illiquid investments. These funds generally limit redemptions to monthly, quarterly, semiannually, annually or longer, at NAV, and require between 30 and 90 days prior written notice, limiting the University's ability to respond quickly to changes in market conditions. The value of hedge funds classified as Level 3 included investment lockups that will expire over the next 6 to 30 months of $298,005 and $237,605 at June 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively, and side pockets of $35,821 and $42,194 at June 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively, that had indeterminate redemption periods. The University's nonhedge fund investments restrict the ability to withdraw, which limits the University's ability to respond quickly to changes in market conditions. These investments are therefore illiquid.

The University entered into an agreement in February 2012 to hedge the cost of natural gas that took effect on July 1, 2012. The estimated fair value of this arrangement was a liability of $0 as of June 30, 2014 and a liability of $79 as of June 30, 2013. The University entered into an agreement in June 2012 to hedge a portion of the cost of electricity that took effect on July 1, 2013. The estimated fair value of the arrangement was a liability of $537 as of June 30, 2014 and a liability of $1,138 as of June 30, 2013. The change in value is reported as other nonoperating change on the Consolidated Statement of Activities. The fair value of the agreements is the estimated amount that the University would pay or receive to terminate these contracts as of June 30.

Life income agreement assets consist primarily of mutual funds, with some directly held assets in real estate, oil and gas, and bonds. Life income investments included in Level 1 are cash and cash equivalents and mutual funds investing in equities, real estate funds and fixed income securities. Life income investments included in Level 2 are directly held bonds and U.S. Treasury securities. Life income investments included in Level 3 are directly held interests in real estate, oil and gas, and other investments. The life income agreement investments are managed by an external manager.

In December 2013, Village Real Property, Inc. and Village Project, Inc., wholly owned University subsidiaries, provided notice to exercise options within certain ground lease agreements to purchase from the lessee the entire leasehold estate of a retail shopping center. These purchase options should have been reported at fair value and appreciation reported within investment income each year. As of June 30, 2013 the fair value of the purchase options was $17,520 and has been recorded within the current fiscal year as an out of period adjustment. The fair value of the purchase options as of June 30, 2014 was $24,200 and is included within the investments line item in the Consolidated Statement of Financial Position.

The University evaluated the effect of the omission on its previously issued financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2013 and concluded the impact was not material. The University recognized the impact of this omission in its financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2014 as an out of period adjustment, as it did not have any significant impact on the June 30, 2014 financial statements. The net impact resulted in an increase in net assets and investment return of $17,520 related to periods prior to the fiscal year ended June 30, 2014.

14. Related Party Transactions

Members of the University's Board of Trustees and senior management may, from time to time, be associated, either directly or through interlocking board memberships, with entities doing business with the University. The University employs a conflict of interest policy that requires any such associations to be disclosed in writing on an annual basis and updated as appropriate during the year. When such associations exist, measures are taken to mitigate any actual or perceived conflict, including recusal of the board member from any decisions involving the entity doing business with the University. The transactions with entities associated with trustees or senior management are not considered to be significant and may include investment management, common membership in investment partnerships or other investment vehicles, or the purchase of goods or services.

15. Retirement Plans

Substantially all employees are eligible to participate in a defined contribution retirement plan, which is administered by a third party. The plan operates in accordance with Section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code. University contributions are made to this plan. In addition, employees may elect to participate in plans created under Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. The contributions of the University and its employees can be applied to annuity contracts. The University's contributions to the plan of $21,075 and $20,374, were recorded as expense in the appropriate functional categories in 2014 and 2013, respectively.

16. Commitments and Contingencies

A number of suits and claims are pending against the University. While final outcomes cannot be determined at this time, management believes, after consultation with its legal counsel, that the uninsured liability, if any, resulting from these suits and claims will not have a material adverse effect on the University's financial position, operations, or cash flows.

The University receives funding from federal government agencies for research and other programs conducted under government grants and contracts. The costs recovered by the University in support of sponsored programs are subject to audit and adjustment.

In connection with its private equity investment program (Note 4), the University is obligated under certain limited partnership agreements to advance additional funding up to levels specified in each agreement upon the request of the general partner. At June 30, 2014 and 2013, the University had unfunded commitments of approximately $609,000 and $516,000, respectively, which are expected to be called primarily over the next five to seven years.

The purchase price was $59,000 with an estimated fair value at the time of the purchase of $83,200.
